1. About Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund

The Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund ('Fund') is a 'not-for-profit' employer sponsored super fund. The principal employer of the Fund is Goldman Sachs Australia Services Pty Ltd. Anyone who is an employee or contractor of Goldman Sachs Australia Services Pty Ltd or an employee of National Australia Bank Ltd ('NAB') who primarily works in the JBWere Ltd business is eligible to join the Fund. The Fund also offers membership to spouses of employees and persons who cease to be an employee (conditions apply).

There are four sections of the Fund that are relevant to new members: Accumulation Section, Casual Accumulation Section, Retained Benefits Section all of which are in the Fund's MySuper Division, and the Eligible Spouse Division.

If you are a permanent employee or a contractor, you will automatically become a member of the Accumulation Section. If you are a casual employee, you will become a member of the Casual Accumulation Section.

The Fund also offers:

- a Retained Benefits Section which, if eligible, enables you to leave your benefit invested in the Fund when you leave employment with an employer (subject to a minimum balance); and
- an Eligible Spouse Division which allows your spouse to join the Fund so that super can be provided for him or her in the Fund. The product offered under this Division is not a MySuper product.

Go to the document & forms section of the Fund's website www.gsibwsuper.com.au to find a copy of the MySuper product dashboard. Additional documents required for disclosure by law, including trustee and executive remuneration disclosures can be found on the document & forms section of the Fund's website.

2. How super works

Compulsory retirement savings

Super is a means of saving for retirement which is, in part, compulsory. Employers are required by law to contribute to the super of employees in the form of a Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contribution. The Government offers tax savings on super contributions and investment earnings to make super an attractive way to save for your retirement. There are other types of contributions that can be made to your super to build your retirement savings.

Super Contributions

The different types of super contributions that can be made to your super, depending on your age, employment status and whether the Fund has your tax file number, include:

- employer contributions including compulsory SG contributions
- 'salary sacrifice' contributions, if your employer allows
- voluntary contributions as regular or lump sum contributions
- government co-contributions and spouse contributions including splitting of before-tax contributions with your spouse (or your spouse can split contributions with you).

Annual contribution limits

There are annual limits on how much you can contribute to your super without attracting significant additional tax.

Accessing your super

Under preservation rules, withdrawals from your super are generally restricted to when you permanently retire from the workforce after age 60 or on reaching your preservation age (if you were born on or before 30 June 1964, you have already reached your preservation age. If you were born on or after 1 July 1964, your preservation age is 60). There are some exceptions to this rule, for example in cases of extreme financial hardship.

Choosing a super fund

Most employees have the right to choose the super fund into which their compulsory employer contributions will be paid. This PDS has been designed to help you consider the benefits and features of the Fund and to easily compare it with other super funds.

More important information about 'How super works', including the different types of contributions which may be made, tax savings, limits to contributions to, and withdrawals from, super, and choice of fund, is included in the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet.

You should read the important information about 'How super works' before making a decision.

Go to the document & forms section of the Fund's website www.gsibwsuper.com.au and read the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet for more information. 4. Risks of super

All investments carry some level of risk. Different strategies may carry different levels of risk, depending on the assets that make up the strategy. Assets with the highest long-term returns may also carry the highest level of short-term risk. The value of investments and level of returns will vary, and future returns may differ from past returns.

There are certain risks associated with being a member of the Fund. Most of these risks are common to all super funds and include:

- the risk that the value of your investment in the Fund may fall (i.e. returns are not guaranteed so negative investment earnings may occur and you may lose some of your super savings);
- the risk that inflation may exceed the return on your investment;
- the risk that your future super savings (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to adequately provide for your retirement;
- the ability of the Trustee and its outsourced administrator to administer the Fund and process benefits in a timely and accurate manner;
- the risk of the Fund being wound up, the Trustee being replaced or investment professionals changing;
- the risk of the Fund losing its complying status, including its MySuper authorisation, and therefore losing its tax concessions (however, the Trustee manages this risk by ensuring that the Fund is administered professionally and that it operates in accordance with the requirements of the trust deed and relevant law); and
- the risk of super, taxation or other laws changing in the future which could affect the value of your investment in the Fund or your ability to access your super benefits in the Fund.

The level of risk for each person will vary depending on a range of factors, including age, investment time frames, where other parts of a person's wealth are invested and a person's risk tolerance.

5. How we invest your money

The Fund provides only one investment option for members in the generic MySuper Division, namely the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation MySuper product. The same investment option applies to the Eligible Spouse Members. The investment return objective for this investment option is to generate a total net return of at least 4% above inflation over a 10 year rolling period. The investment return objective is not a prediction or promise of any particular investment return.

The Fund maintains an asset profile that seeks to maximise long term returns by maintaining a high proportion of Australian equities. The minimum suggested timeframe for holding investments in the default option is 5 years. The option is suitable for investors who wish to invest assets over the long term. The level of risk in this investment option is very high.

The permitted ranges for each asset class and the strategic asset allocation are:

Asset Class	Ranges	Neutral Position
Domestic Equities	30-75%	38%
International Equities	10-45%	42%
Real Assets	0-30%	3%
Credit	0-50%	10%
Alternative Strategies	0-30%	2%
Cash	1.5-30%	5%

For up to date information on the option's investment performance, please refer to 'investment performance' tab within the 'documents and forms' section of the Fund website at www.gsibwsuper.com.au.

The Trustee generally manages its investments internally and has no external investment managers appointed, other than underlying wholesale managed funds in certain asset classes. Investments of the Fund are made directly by the Trustee via direct holdings and wholesale managed funds.

Social, environmental and other considerations

The Trustee focuses on achieving strong risk-adjusted absolute returns. Principally, the Trustee seeks to maximise members' benefits over the long term, and integrates Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) considerations where they are aligned to its investment objectives. The Trustee does not have a formal methodology to explicitly assess ESG credentials of particular jurisdictions, industries or businesses. However, the Trustee may take into account ESG considerations to the extent that they may affect the financial performance of a company or investment.

More important information about 'How we invest your money', including the Trustee's investment objectives and strategy, Fund investment decision making, Fund crediting rates, the Fund's use of investment managers, and the Fund's asset class description is included in the Investment Guide on the Fund's website.

You should read the important information about 'How we invest your money' before making a decision.

Go to the document & forms section of the Fund's website www.gsibwsuper.com.au and read the Investment Guide. The material relating to 'How we invest your money' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product. You must consider the likely investment return, risk and your own investment timeframe when choosing to invest in the MySuper Division or Eligible Spouse Division.

6. Fees and other costs

Consumer Advisory Warning

DID YOU KNOW?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30 year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

You or your employer, as applicable may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.*

TO FIND OUT MORE

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

* The information in the box above is required by Commonwealth law. You should be aware that in the Fund it is not possible for you to negotiate lower fees or costs.

Fees and other costs

This section shows fees and other costs that you may be charged as a member of either the MySuper Division or Eligible Spouse Division of the Fund. These fees and other costs may be deducted from your money, from the returns on your investment or from the assets of the Fund as a whole. Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice or insurance chosen by you. Entry fees and exit fees cannot be charged.

Taxes, insurance fees and other costs relating to insurance are set out in the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet.

You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

If you would like to calculate the effect of fees and costs on your super account balance, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission has a superannuation fee calculator at www.moneysmart.gov.au.

WARNING: If you consult a financial adviser, additional fees may be payable. These will be detailed in the Statement of Advice provided to you by the financial adviser.

Fee changes

All fees are current and may be revised or adjusted by the Trustee without member consent from time to time. The Trustee may also introduce new fees. If there is a material increase in fees, the Trustee must notify members 30 days in advance of the change.

More important information about the 'Fees and costs' applicable to your super is included in the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet.

You should read the important information about 'Fees and costs' before making a decision.

Go to the document & forms section of the Fund's website www.gsibwsuper.com.au and read the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet. The material relating to 'Fees and costs' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

7. How super is taxed

Tax on contributions

(a) Concessional contributions subject to 15% tax and capped at $30,000 per year

A tax of 15% is generally deducted from before tax contributions (known as 'concessional contributions'). The 15% tax rate only applies to concessional contributions up to a cap of $30,000 for the 2024/2025 financial year. This cap will be indexed to Average Weekly Ordinary Time Earnings (AWOTE) but only increasing in $2,500 increments.

Bring Forward Rule

You may carry forward any unused amounts of your concessional contributions cap if you have a superannuation balance less than $500,000 on 30 June of the previous financial year. The first year you will be entitled to carry forward unused amounts is the 2019–20 financial year. Unused amounts are available for a maximum of five years, and will expire after this period.

Concessional contributions in excess of the cap will be taxed in line with your individual marginal tax rate^{*} levied on you personally. This will result in the tax payable being the same as if the excess contribution had been received as salary. An interest charge to recognize that the tax on excess contributions is collected later than normal income tax also applies. Individuals may withdraw excess concessional contributions made to their superannuation fund with the same interest charge applying in this case. You may instruct the Fund to release monies from your account to pay the additional tax, however any such request will incur a $180 activity fee.

^{*} including Medicare Levy less 15% to allow for the contribution tax already paid.

(b) Non-concessional contributions not taxed and capped at $120,000 per year

If you make contributions from your after-tax salary (i.e. 'non-concessional contributions', formerly called 'undeducted contributions'), no further tax is levied on these contributions up to a cap of $120,000 per year. If you are aged younger than 75, the cap can be $360,000 averaged over a 3 year period. Excess concessional contributions are included in the non-concessional contributions cap. Tax at the top marginal tax rate, including the Medicare Levy is deducted from contributions in excess of the cap, levied on you personally. You may however elect to withdraw excess non-concessional contributions made to the Fund and 85% of any associated earnings, for which you will also be entitled to a 15% tax offset. You may instruct the Fund to refund monies to you, however any such request will incur a $180 activity fee. Since 1 July 2024 the cap is $120,000 if your total superannuation balance is less than the transfer balance cap and it is nil if your total superannuation balance is more than the transfer balance cap. The transfer balance cap is between $1.6 million and $1.9 million depending on your total superannuation balance in the previous financial year. You can find out your transfer balance cap from the ATO.

(c) Additional Tax for High Income Earners - Division 293 Tax

Division 293 tax is an additional 15 per cent tax imposed on relevant concessional contributions made into superannuation funds by individuals who are classed as high income earners. A person is classed as a high income earner if his/her income threshold and low tax contributions equal $250,000 or more. Division 293 tax reduces the superannuation tax concession that high income earners receive.

You may pay the Division 293 tax from your super account balance if you pass on the notice of assessment to the Trustee, or seek reimbursement from the Fund. However, any such request will incur a $180 activity fee.

WARNING: If you exceed these super contributions annual limits you may be required to pay extra tax.

Tax on investment earnings

Investment earnings by the Fund are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%. This rate of tax may be reduced below 15% due to the effect of imputation credits from franked dividends, foreign tax rebates on overseas interest and dividends, and indexation and discounting of capital gains.

This tax is deducted before the Fund's crediting rate is declared to members.

Tax on benefits

Most super benefits are subject to tax on a concessional basis. Super benefits paid to members over age 60 (as either a lump sum or pension) are tax free.

If you are under 60, a lump sum benefit will comprise 2 components:

- an exempt component (tax-free), and
- a taxable component (subject to tax).

If applicable, 20% tax (or your marginal tax rate, if lower) will generally be levied on the whole taxable component. This figure does not include the Medicare levy.

Providing your TFN to the Trustee is voluntary and it is not an offence if you choose not to provide it. However, if you do not provide your TFN to the Trustee, you may have to pay more tax on your super benefits or contributions than would otherwise be necessary. The Trustee may also be prohibited from accepting non-concessional contributions on your behalf. In some instances, you may claim back the additional tax paid from the ATO.

More important information about 'How super is taxed', including tax on contributions, tax on investment earnings, tax on benefits, and Tax File Numbers, is included in the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet.

You should read the important information about 'How super is taxed' before making a decision.

Go to the document & member forms section of the Fund's website www.gsjbwsuper.com.au and read the Features of the Goldman Sachs & JBWere Superannuation Fund booklet. The material relating to 'How super is taxed' may change between the time when you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

WARNING: You should provide your Tax File Number (TFN) as part of acquiring the superannuation product.

8. Insurance in your super

There are costs associated with insurance cover. Premiums for insurance cover are deducted from your Member Account at the end of each month, or if you leave during a month, on exit from the Fund.

WARNING: Information in the Insurance Guide about eligibility, cancellation, conditions and exclusions may affect your entitlement to the following types of insurance cover:

- Death and Total and Permanent Disablement ('TPD') Minimum Insured Benefits;
- Voluntary insurance cover; and
- Salary Continuance Insurance.

You should read this information before deciding whether the insurance is appropriate.

Death and TPD insurance cover

Upon joining the Fund, eligible members of the Accumulation Section of the Fund may be automatically covered (subject to certain conditions – see the Insurance Guide) for a minimum level of death insurance, or both death and TPD insurance. If you meet the relevant eligibility requirements, you will automatically receive death and TPD cover if you join the Fund within 90 days of commencing employment with an Employer (for more information about the eligibility requirements refer to section 2.1 of the Insurance Guide).

You will be an eligible member and will automatically receive insurance cover when your superannuation account balance reaches $6,000 or more and you are aged 25 years or more. If you are aged less than 25 years and/or your superannuation account balance is less than $6,000, you may request insurance cover subject to certain conditions (for more information refer to the Insurance Guide).

The insurance premium payable (by you) in respect of the Minimum Insured Benefit (as that term is defined in the Insurance Guide) for cover is based on age and gender related premium rates per $1,000 sum insured which includes any stamp duty payable. The cost of death and TPD cover each year is between $0.11 and $14.03 per $1,000 of cover, depending on your personal circumstances. Please refer to the Insurance Guide for more detail. All insurance cover is subject to the Automatic Cancellation of Cover rules on page 8.

Accumulation Section Members

The death and TPD Minimum Insured Benefit for Accumulation Section members is a lump sum benefit calculated by reference to the following formula: 18% x your Salary x complete years and months to age 65*

* The complete years and months to age 65 is measured from the most recent 1 July or the date of joining the Fund, whichever is later.

Upon attaining age 60, your TPD insurance cover will reduce by 1/60th for each completed month after you attained age 60 until you attain age 65. This will result in your TPD insurance cover being zero once you attain age 65.

Eligible members can increase their death and TPD cover by applying for voluntary insurance cover (refer below).

You can elect to reduce or cease all death and/or TPD insurance cover at any time, by calling the Fund's Helpline.

Retained Benefit members

If you become a Retained Benefits Section member, the death and TPD insurance which applied to you immediately before either ceasing employment with your employer or making a choice of fund election and directing your employer to pay superannuation guarantee contributions to another super fund will automatically continue, subject to a number of different conditions (for more information refer to the Insurance Guide).

WARNING: Unless you decline or cancel insurance cover in the Retained Benefits Section, the cost of this cover will continue to be deducted from your account subject to the Automatic Cancellation of Cover rules on page 8 (note that premiums vary in the Retained Benefits Section). This does not apply to Salary Continuance Insurance. For more information please refer to the relevant section on page 8 of this PDS or to section 3.1 of the Insurance Guide.

If you become a Retained Benefits Section Member before age 50, the amount of your death and TPD insurance cover will remain fixed until age 50. When you reach age 50, the insured benefit will reduce annually by the following amount:

$$\frac{\text{Insured Benefit before attaining the age 50}}{16}$$

If you become a Retained Benefits Section Member when you are aged 50 or older, the amount of your death and TPD insurance cover will reduce annually by the following amount:

$$\frac{\text{Insured Benefit upon becoming a Retained Benefits Member}}{(65 - \text{age upon becoming a Retained Benefits Member})}$$

The insurance premium payable in respect of insured benefits for Retained Benefits Section Members are based on age and gender related premium rates per $1,000 sum insured which includes stamp duty payable. Please refer to the Insurance Guide for more detail. The cost of combined death and TPD cover each year is between $0.14 and $18.45 per $1,000 of cover, depending on your personal circumstances. If there are insufficient funds in your Member Account to cover your insurance premium for your insurance cover, your cover will be cancelled. As a Retained Benefits Section Member you may opt-out of death and TPD insurance at any time. If you wish to change or opt out of insurance cover, please contact the Fund Helpline.

Other Sections and Divisions

There is no automatic death or TPD insurance for Casual Accumulation Section Members, Accumulation Section Members who are contractors on a contract period of less than 12 months or Eligible Spouse Division Members. These members must apply for voluntary insurance cover as set out below under the heading 'Voluntary insurance cover'.

Maximum Insured benefit for all members

The maximum amount of insured benefit the Insurer will pay in respect of a member is as follows:

	Eligible Spouse Members	Other Members
Death	$1.0 million	Unlimited
TPD	$0.5 million	$3.0 million

The insurer may also limit automatic increases in the amount of cover for any insured benefit in respect of a member to 30% in any 12-month period.

Voluntary insurance cover

Even if you are eligible for automatic death, or both death and TPD insurance cover, you may also apply for additional voluntary death and TPD insurance cover (i.e. cover in addition to your Minimum Insured Benefit).

If you are an Eligible Spouse Division Member, a Casual Accumulation Section Member or an Accumulation Section Member who is a contractor working for a term of less than 12 months you can apply for voluntary death-only insurance cover or voluntary death and TPD insurance cover. Some conditions may apply.

Please contact the Fund Helpline if you wish to apply for voluntary insurance cover.

Salary Continuance Insurance

Eligible members of the Accumulation Section of the Fund may automatically be covered for a SCI Benefit (payable up to five years, with a 90-day Waiting Period), subject to certain conditions (refer to the Insurance Guide).

If you are an eligible member, you will automatically receive insurance cover for an SCI Benefit when your superannuation account balance reaches $6,000 or more and you are aged 25 years or more.

If you are aged less than 25 years and/or your superannuation account balance is less than $6,000, you may request SCI Benefit insurance cover subject to certain conditions (for more information refer to the Insurance Guide).

The annual insurance premium payable (by you) in respect of the automatic level of your SCI cover (5 years) is between $1.94 and $38.26 per $100 monthly benefit, depending on your personal circumstance (which includes any stamp duty payable). For voluntary SCI Benefit cover premiums, refer to the Insurance Guide.

Your monthly SCI Benefit is calculated as follows:

The lesser of:

- 75% of your Pre-Disability Income;
- the Amount Insured; and
- the Maximum Monthly Benefit ($30,000).

The Amount Insured is generally 75% of income, subject to the Automatic Acceptance Limit, Maximum Monthly Benefit and subject to you not selecting a lower level of cover. If you wish to select a lower level of cover, contact the Fund Helpline.

Retained Benefits Members may elect to continue their SCI cover upon transition to the Retained Benefits Section (subject to conditions – refer to the Insurance Guide). If you elect to continue your cover, the Amount Insured will be fixed at what it was immediately before you became a Retained Benefits Section Member, unless you apply to increase the Amount Insured or you do not elect to continue your cover as a Retained Benefits Section Member. The annual insurance premiums applicable to the Retained Benefits Section vary compared with the Accumulation Section (refer to the Insurance Guide for exact premiums).

Pre-Disability Income

Pre-disability Income is the gross monthly Income earned by you immediately before becoming Totally Disabled (or, if you are on unpaid leave at the time of becoming Totally Disabled, means the Income you received before going on leave). For more information about Income please refer to the Insurance Guide.

Maximum SCI cover

The maximum amount of SCI Benefit for which you do not need to provide medical or other evidence is $17,500 per month or $210,000 per annum. However, if because of your income your SCI Benefit would be higher than this amount, the amount above $17,500 per month (or $210,000 per annum) can, at your election, be underwritten up to a maximum of $30,000 per month or $360,000 per annum. This will only occur at your request.

The insurer may reduce your SCI Benefit if you are receiving other income or benefits while receiving an SCI benefit.

Automatic Cancellation of Cover

In accordance with the Protecting Your Super legislation, any insurance cover you have (whether death, TPD or SCI) will be cancelled if we have not received any contributions and/or rollovers to your account for a continuous period of 16 months and you have not expressly elected to maintain your insurance cover. Where this occurs the cost of all insurance cover will stop being deducted from your account balance. The cancellation of insurance cover is aimed at reducing the erosion of account balances by insurance premiums for unwanted cover.

You may request insurance cover if you do not wish to have your insurance cover cancelled.
